

Frosh Essay Contest offers cash prizes

The college English department is now sponsoring a freshman essay contest which is open to all presently classified freshmen. First prize in the contest is $25.00, and second prize is $15.00. This will be the first annual contest.

The manuscripts must be submitted to the Registrar's office on or before Monday, March 27, and are to be original pieces (they may not have been submitted to another contest).

The entries are also to be expository, 750-1000 words in length, and are to develop one of the following topics:

1. Liturgy and Life
2. The Responsibility of Knowledge
3. 1861-1961: Half-Slave, Half-Free
4. The Mature Collegian: Myth or Fact?

Two double-spaced copies are to be submitted in a sealed envelope. The title page of each manuscript is to have no identification other than the title of the essay and a pen name.

The student's real name along with his pen name, is to be enclosed in the envelop on a separate sheet of paper.

The English department has reserved the right to withhold the awarding of prizes in the event essays of an inferior quality are submitted.

Two other campus literary contests, the Alumni Essay contest and the Mary C. Pursley Award for creative writing, are open to all students and will accept entries until April 23.

The Alumni Essay Contest, offering a $25.00 first prize and a $15.00 second prize, is open to any type of literary essay: factual, speculative, or personal.

Excluded are honors theses, research papers, essays written by January graduates, essays entered in the Pursley or Hanley science contests, or essays entered in Measure, unless they be typed and under a pseudonym.

The Mary C. Pursley Award for creative writing offers a single $50.00 first prize. The winning composition must merit classification as creative writing of some literary excellence through an organized, imaginative, and fictitious unit.

Entries must be in the form of short stories, personal essays, dramas, or poems of sonnet length (14 lines) or longer.

Copies of contest instructions may be obtained from an English instructor at his office.

No classes on Monday in honor of St. Thomas

In honor of St. Thomas Aquinas, the patron of Catholic education, next Monday, March 6, will be a free day for St. Joe students.

Saturday classes will meet as usual on March 4. Classes will resume Tuesday, March 7, at 8:00 a.m.

The annual St. Thomas day mass will be celebrated in the fieldhouse March 7 at 8:00 p.m. All students are obliged to attend.

Rev. Thomas C. Donlan, O.P., vice president of the Priory Press, and one of the editors of Priory's series of college religion texts, will deliver the feastday sermon.

The faculty and seniors will march in academic procession to and from the Mass.

Dr. Robert Byrnes to speak Thursday

Professor Robert Byrnes, chairman of history at Indiana University, will speak here at 8:00 p.m., Thursday, March 9, in the college cafeteria.

A former member of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), Professor Byrnes will speak on recent European history.

The lecture is another in the college's annual lecture series under the direction of Mr. James A. Farrell, assistant professor of English at St. Joseph's.

Dr. Byrnes, whom Mr. Farrell regards as "the most diversified scholar in the country," received his A.B. at Amherst college in 1939.

He then attended Harvard where he received his A.M. in 1940, and his Ph.D. in 1947.

He is a member of the Russian and Eastern European Institute at Indiana University and is also a consultant to the State Department.

Dr. Byrnes' central interest is French history, particularly the history of anti-Semitism in France. He spent the fall of 1960 in Japan.

During World War II he served with the Foreign Economic Administration and in Military Intelligence. He has taught at Swarthmore College and Rutgers University. Before coming to I.U. he was director of Mid-European Studies Center in New York, an affiliate of the Free Europe Committee.

At Amherst he held the Babbitt scholarship and Amherst memorial fellowship and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Bond Fifteen. He held the Harris fellowship at Harvard.

Other fellowships he has held included those of the Social Science Research Council, the American Philosophical Society and the Guggenheim Memorial Fund.

He is general editor of a seven-volume study of East Central Europe Under the Communists, author of several books and frequent contributor to scholarly publications.

In 1959 he was chairman of the Conference on Slavic and East European Studies, a part of the American Historical Society. He is first vice-president of the Catholic Historical Association.

There are two other lectures planned for the second semester. In April, Frederick Pike of the history department of Notre Dame University will lecture of the decline of American prestige in South America. Professor Pike was a Fulbright fellow in Chile.

Dorothy Day, the noted author and lecturer, is also expected to appear in the series sometime in the near future.

Sr. Anthonita awarded Medal by Freedom Foundation for essay

Sr. Mary Anthonita Hess, C.P.P.S., Ph.D., assistant professor of history at St. Joseph's, has been awarded the George Washington Honor Medal Award by the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa. She won the award for her essay, "Here We Stand: Liberty vs. Oppression."

Sr. Anthonita's essay was selected by a distinguished national and school jury as "an outstanding achievement in helping to bring about a better understanding of the American way of life." The Foundation's 1960 awards were announced recently by foundation president Dr. Kenneth D. Wells.

The purpose of the awards, now in their thirteenth year, is to honor any citizen who makes an outstanding effort, through writing, speaking, or action, to enhance public understanding and appreciation of the rights and freedoms guaranteed to Americans.

Sister took as her subject the Bill of Rights, the first ten amendments to the U.S. Constitution, and especially speech and press freedom. She wrote, "The bold words of the Bill of Rights—are not empty slogans but written treasures prized by men." The essay explained the tremendous significance of the document to the American way of life.

In conclusion, Sister said, "Let us reiterate, today, that our fundamental rights are 'self-evident' and thank our Creator that the Bill of Rights which spells them out explicitly is a sacred deposit of active guarantees, one of the most priceless of which is freedom of speech and of the press."

Sr. Anthonita has been on the college staff since 1956. A native of Dayton, O., she earned her Ph.D. from Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. in 1949.

Talent Show to feature co-eds, Bill Moriarty, Tony Freeland

By MIKE DOYLE

As in past years, the annual Talent show will be produced to provide the students with a night of entertainment, and to allow the more talented Pumas to show off their skills.

This year the show will be presented on Wednesday, March 15, at 8:00 p.m. in the college auditorium. The masters of ceremonies will be seniors Tony Freeland and Bill Moriarty.

For the first time some of St. Joe's co-eds will be participating this year. Already two acts with performing co-eds are being prepared.

However, in spite of the activities of the co-eds, the overall picture is not as bright as it could be. "Interest in participating in the Talent Show seems to be somewhat less this year than in the past," commented Bill Moriarty, "especially among the freshmen. We look to them to bring in the new acts—and this year they just aren't cooperating."

Several of last year's acts are expected to return once more to entertain us. Juniors Mickey Clark and Phil Ullo are expected to return with their harmonious duets; once again the New Upper-classmen are expected to play. Also to return is Ray Billy with his Al Jolson routine.

There are also some new acts in the making. Some of Gilbert and Sullivan's well-known songs are being parodied and applied to the faculty; and there is rumor that a polka band is being organized.

Although first tryouts were held last Monday evening, talent is still being sought. Anyone interested in participating in the talent show should contact Bill Moriarty by March 8.

Jim Sullivan selected Stuff's February Man of the Month

Jim Sullivan, senior marketing major from Chicago, has been selected as Stuff's Man of the Month for February.

Jim was chosen for the honor mainly in recognition for his work as student chairman of the annual alumni solicitation drive which was more successful this year than it has ever been in history.

By organizing a group of 36 of the most outstanding of his fellow seniors to solicit the other members of the class, Jim was instrumental in insuring the success of the alumni drive.

Senior participation was 100 percent, and a total of $5,571 was pledged to the fund—an average student donation of approximately $35.00.

Jim directed this group of senior solicitors and tabulated the results, a time consuming job.

Transferring from Wilson Junior College in Chicago for his sophomore year, Jim has been active in campus affairs ever since. He has been a member of the Chicago club for the last three years.

Last year, he served on the committee for interior decorations for the Junior-Senior prom, as well as the committee for exterior decorations.

Jim has also played intramural softball for the past two springs.

After graduation in June, Jim will either attend graduate school at the University of Illinois, or enter the Armed Services. Eventually, he hopes for a career in the business world.

New group formed to promote art appreciation

If a person haphazardly throws paint onto a wall and the resulting sight stirs someone intellectually or emotionally, is this art? Just what is good art?

Questions like this are discussed each week by members of a newly formed campus group organized to promote in its members a greater appreciation of art.

The group considers all forms of art: literature, music and painting. It also encourages each of its members to produce something creative in one of these areas.

The members hope to learn art by (1) listening to people who know art, including professors and visiting professional artists, (2) criticizing the artistic works of the other members, and (3) reading on the subject.

The new group was started by Bob Tollick, a junior. There are no officers and no faculty moderator, as the group would like to remain as informal as possible.

Presently, the group consists of six members. They hope to extend somewhat, but not to such a degree as to hinder effective discussion groups.

Liturgical participation is a law of the Church, not a local whim

Participation in the liturgy, through congregational singing and the dialog mass, is a legislation from Pope John XXIII. It is a law binding on all Catholics; it is not a mere whim of St. Joseph's administration.

Nonetheless, liturgical participation has been met with reluctance, if not resistance, by some St. Joe students.

Perhaps one of the major obstacles to student acceptance of participation is ignorance. Few realize that the program is a law decreed by the Holy Father and not merely something that the administration feels would be "nice" for the students to do.

Lay participation is not an entirely new thing. Over some eleven hundred years, the people lost more and more of their part in the mass until the priest finally became a factotum, that is, he came to perform all the functions.

This was contrary to the original nature of the mass, but not until fifty years ago was anything done about it.

Pope St. Pius X was the founder of the modern liturgical revival. He encouraged the two most important means of participation in the mass—the reception of Holy Communion and congregational singing.

He permitted children to receive the Eucharist at an earlier age and encouraged frequent reception among adults—a shocking notion at that time.

In addition, he re-emphasized the reform of Church music and urged the congregation to take a more active part in the mass by singing.

Thus, participation is, not something new but merely a restoration of the rights of the people.

Catholic colleges are especially obliged to institute lay participation on the campus. The recent Instruction of the Sacred Congregation of Rites of Sept. 3, 1958 urged that it be done on campuses of higher learning because these people become the leaders of the community.

Since the Pope has required more lay participation, we have no choice but to follow his instructions. The main idea to be understood is the purpose behind all the administration is trying to do.

It was expressed aptly by Pope St. Pius X half a century ago: "The primary and indispensable source of the true Christian spirit is the active participation of the faithful in the sacred mysteries and in the public solemn prayer of the Church."

Now that Pope John XXIII has directed that all churches install liturgical participation, the St. Joseph's administration is merely following his wishes.

Reviews at random

By DAN ZAWILA

Collegemen are gifted with many talents, among them bed-pushing, crowding into foreign sport cars, telephone booths and innocent coeds' lives.

And being like other collegemen, Pumas have perfected their own form of higher "education." This social aspect of campus life I refer to is sophisticatedly termed, "mimicry."

Now, what exactly is mimicry? On the Pumaville scene it is the means of communication between friends, enemies, and bewildered freshmen.

In higher forms, it emerges as a verbal battle of wits, a mental coup d'etat, where two collegemen, who are very adept at this art, good naturedly deride each other's character. This may involve a marathon of mockery, a battle in romantic ridicule, or a seminar in intellectual imitation. These bouts may last an hour, a week, or even a college career.

In the lower forms, this mockery assumes burlesque coarseness, since it employs overused clichés and hackneyed expressions. A stroll through any hall provides hundreds of examples like, "Fish," "Soot," "Mangy," "Zero," "Beefy Bear," "Tricky O," "Spats," "Toy Bulldog," "Eberhard," "Ichabod," "Flabion," etc.

Popular history recalls that this subtle art of mockery originated as an old British parlor game. Two bearded Britishers, who had their monacles fixed on a local Duchess, would sit by a fireplace, sip their tea, and amiably bombard each other with understatements.

As you can see, this gentleman's art has come a long way. Monacles have become "four eyes" and beards are now goatees. Even the tea aspect has fermented somewhat.

But by being an integral part of the Pumaville hegemony we can expect that after four years of gregariousness, we will either possess the sharpest wits ever or the deepest sense of humility.

Students thanked for support of new wrestling team

To The Student Body:

I want to thank you for all the support you have shown the wrestling squad. It means a great deal for a new team to have the students interested enough in them to come to the matches.

Next year, I think you will welcome a team that, with a season of experience behind them, has greatly improved.

Sincerely,

Mike Mettler

Remedial course for reporters suggested by Fr. Bierberg

Dear Editor:

Will you please inform your readers (and Marty Waters) that the faculty and administration do indeed believe in remedial courses, e.g., Mr. Cappuccilli's and Fr. Rueve's clinics? But the faculty and administration just do not believe in giving academic credit for remedial courses of every kind, which is what I actually said in the Scholastic Committee meeting. May I suggest a remedial course for newspaper reporters (and Marty Waters)?

Sincerely,

Rev. Rudolph P. Bierberg, C.P.P.S.
Assistant Academic Dean

P.S. to Bill Moriarty.

You live in a rural community and oversleep the only Sunday Mass scheduled at 8:00 a.m.; you live in the suburbs and oversleep the 8:00 a.m. commuter; you live in the city and oversleep the 8:00 a.m. car pool or business appointment. How do you expect to be governor that way?

A new academic regulation prevents students on probation from cutting classes. In addition, such students are allowed to go home only once a month. Do you think this new rule will help the student as much as the administrative board seems to think it will? Also, do you think that such punishments as having to outline a chapter of a book are sensible ones? What improvements would you suggest?

The new academic regulation for students on probation would make it appear that we are backtracking on our educational road. Preventing a student from going home more than once a month would hinder rather than help his chances of acquiring a good index. Such a rule kills a student's initiative to do well.

This rule is childish, as is the so-called "punishment" inflicted for cutting class. Outlining chapters as punishments went out with putting gold stars on good homework papers. I believe that a monetary punishment would produce far more results and would help the student on probation to stay in this institute of "higher" learning.

Jake Jaundzems, freshman, Browns Mills, N.J.

Basically, I feel that this new regulation is a sound and just one. Although students may gripe about it, it has been established for their own welfare. By having to attend

In all fairness to Jim O'Donnell, he is NOT a world-famed economist; he is simply the author of the new hit song, "The Bryce is right!"

Despite another feverish attempt, Don Hoffman and Mike Gatton failed to retrieve Valpo's famous Victory Bell. But never ones to quit, they say they'll try for another "belle" next week.

Word from Gallagher Hall has it that Bill Thoma has nominated Marty "Diogenes" McLaughlin as Cynic of the Year. Doesn't look as if Marty has too much competition!

Contrary to popular belief, the notices on the blackboards about Feb. 28 did not concern the Faculty-Monogram game.

They were put there by Jake Jaundzems to remind everyone that it was on that day he would actually prove to Drexelites that his "car" would run. Did he meet with success? Well, the notices now read March 28.

Fr. Shea has hit upon a unique way of keeping the sophomores awake in his Russian history class. He simply "permits" them to read Shakespeare. What relationship this has to Russian history is Father's own little secret. May he long enjoy it!

Bill Malley is currently engaged in a war with the Ohio students. "Bulldog" still can't see how anyone can pick Ohio State over St. Bonaventure. "Stith over Lucas anyway!"

In deference to Tony Pacenti's fervent wishes, there will be no mention in this column of he and Louise. All inquiries in regards to this charming young lady will first have to be authorized by former Puma, Les Klein. Is everybody happy now?

Attention Dave Hoover: be nice to "Dear Mr. Griffin." He is still recovering from a nightmarish weekend in Indianapolis. Seems he had two dates for the same night last weekend. Being a sport, he decided to take one girl to the movies and the other girl to dinner.

But upon returning from dinner, his date informed him that she was staying at a friend's house. And guess who the friend was? Yes, Dave, it was John's movie date. He refuses to tell us what happened, but the mail has been coming in mighty slow from Indianapolis. Leave it to John!

Despite the pleas of sophomore physical education majors, Billy Braunbeck refuses to reveal his sure-fire method of getting an A in his course. Might have dropped a clue or two at the Scharf house though.

classes regularly, the students are bound to learn more than if they had wasted their time doing nothing.

The punishments inflicted by the pedants for breaking the rules are yet another form of help to the students. Having to outline a chapter gives a student an opportunity to learn what he may have missed during class.

As for going home; well, the student knows he has to stay here three weekends out of four, so he might just as well own up to the fact and sit down and study.

Ron Bonato, sophomore, Chicago, Ill.

I do not believe that this new series of rules will be as beneficial as our Administrative Board seems to think. The rule stating that a student on pro may go home only once a month is rather inept and tends to make St. Joe's appear as a high class reformatory.

Mandatory outlining of a chapter for cutting class is really hilarious; it reminds me of the third grade when this penalty was enforced for coming in late from recess. Before the Board graces us with some more of their fine ideas they should keep this idiom in mind, "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink!"

James McHenry, freshman, Springfield, Ill.

The new rules on probation are designed for the student's benefit and should be accepted as such. I know that many students are complaining about oversleeping an 8:00 or 9:00 a.m. class. But discipline is part of college life and college students should make themselves get up for these classes.

Every student at St. Joe's has the ability to make good grades, but some students are more lax than others in applying themselves. These new rules, which I don't feel have to be revised, were initiated for the purpose of getting such students on the ball. Attendance at class is a small price to pay for a college diploma.

Pumas trounce Marian in season finale, 80-61

Whitlow, Holstein pace Big Red win

St. Joseph's Pumas closed their poorest season in recent years last Thursday night on a winning note as they trounced the cagers of Marian 80-61.

The Pumas' season record thus stands at 5-15. The previous low mark was the 7-16 season of 1950-51.

Seniors Al Whitlow and Ron Holstein led both teams in scoring and rebounding as they made their final cage appearance for the Big Red.

Whitlow pumped in 28 points, and was closely followed by Holstein with 24. They managed to snare 11 rebounds apiece to control the boards for the Pumas.

Sophomore forward Art Voellinger also hit in double figures for the Joemen, as the Pumas rolled to an easy victory.

In the first three minutes of the game, St. Joe took a 10 point lead which they never relinquished. The Pumas hit over .630 from the field in the first half, and ended the game with an even .500 percentage.

Marian managed to score on only 11 of 36 attempts in the first period, and dropped in 25 of 70 for the evening for a .340 percentage.

St. Joe marched over the Marianites for the easiest win of the season. The Pumas had previously downed Marian in December at Marian 73-63.

In the first six minutes of the first period the Pumas took a 15-3 lead and continued to pile on the points through sharp-shooting and nine first period Marian fouls. As the half ended, St. Joe commanded the lead 44-26.

The Pumas started the second half with a scoring burst which placed Marian out of contention throughout the rest of the game.

St. Joe matmen are last in ICC

By JOHN KEANE

The first annual ICC wrestling championship was dominated by Ball State University which captured six of the eight first places and was the winning team of the tournament.

The tournament was held Feb. 24-25 at the Ball Gymnasium, Muncie, with Ball State, DePauw, Indiana State Teachers college, St. Joseph's and Valparaiso participating.

St. Joseph's George Foss took a second place in the 123 lb. class, while Robert Meyers of DePauw won first. In the 130 lb. class, Nick Kovach of Ball State won first and Phil Draheim won second.

At the 137 level, Paul Lewis of Indiana State won first and Dave Kaser of Ball State won second. Jim Hensley of Ball State won first at 147 and David Allen of DePauw won second.

Walt Thompson of Ball State won first at 157 and Jack Ludgate of DePauw won second. John Burtrum, Ball State, won first at 167 and Floyd Ewing of Indiana State won second.

The Ball State man at 177, Fred Ginther, also won first and Bob Brown of DePauw won second. At the heavyweight class, Al Thomas of Ball State won first and Pete Work of DePauw won second. St. Joseph's Dennis

Intramural Scoreboard

By BILL FORTIN

In the Flyer-Freshman game of last Thursday the defending IM champs rose to the challenge of a full-game full-court press put on by quick and well-coached frosh team to turn in their finest performance of the season. Playing especially good games were Bill Fischer and Joe Strzelczyk.

Here at a glance is a size-up of the winning teams in the A League plus the top teams in the other leagues based on their records as seen in the standings. Of the 47 IM teams only one will reign supreme as the 1961 tournament and school champion.

Bennett A.A.—playing better as a team this year than they did last year as the D.T.'s and the Gridders; a speedy play-maker in Bob Decker and good tonnage under the boards.

Bennett Flyers—stronger this year with the addition of Fischer; still the best team for working the ball; fine defense and loaded with individual talent.

Bennett Nebbishes—defeated both the A.A. and the Flyers; improved this year with transfer student Dan Ryder; good outside shooting and one of the top speedsters in Norb Daigle; considered by many as the team to beat.

Bennett Gunners—have one of the top rebounders in George Beemsterboer; good speed and fair defense; long on players with scoring potential.

Noll Jokers—fair outside shooting and muscle under the boards; play deliberate ball rather than use the fast break to any great extent.

Noll Buckeyes—well-balanced good all-around team; fine rebounder in Jack Vogel; scoring potential at every position; a good threat to the prestige of the A League teams.

Aquinas Alkies—offer good balanced attack with quite a few players at six feet or over; quick enough for good fast breaking and defense.

Halas Outcasts—have everything necessary to go all the way; top rebounder in Boguski, Wilken, and Wolshon; good outside with Renspie, Masqa, and Nayland.

Gallagher Stoners—another soph team that will figure heavily in the tournament outcome; strong in rebounding with Dave O'Connor and Tom Fletchall; good all-around scoring potential.

Gallagher Webfoots—very tough under the boards with Tom Webster and Denny Houlihan; good speed at guards; work well as a team.

Halas Guzzlers—balanced scoring attack good enough to overcome any defense; fast enough to make a difference of eight or 10 points per game; fine shooters in Deaks, Jansey, and Reublin.

Halas Hangovers—good height necessary for a winner; have one of the top defensive player in Rodgers; turn in good team play; fine jump-shooter in Jerry.

Drexel Untouchables—are just that; good scorers in Sauer, Miller, and Klaywitter; quick, excellent rebounding strength; most likely of the freshmen teams to go all the way.

Merlini Mighty Mites—fine team play with double-figures men at every position; most phenomenal freethrow percentage taken advantage of by drawing fouls; fine speed.

Drexel Bishops—play 30 minutes of all-out basketball; quick; good defense; fine scorer in Lothrop.

E.S. Guns—very snappy and tough under the boards with Kiley-type muscle; remarkable team spirit and desire to win; bound to go a long way.

Seifert 5 Plus 5—have IM's top scorer in Weber; big with such rebounders as Hemstreet; quick team with one of the shiftiest play-makers in Flanagan.

E.S. Scooters—very good all-around team with balanced scoring and rough 'n ready playing; fine players in Long, Mussey, and Garzynski.

In the ping pong tournament Bill Kirwen will be out to defend his title in the singles competition, while half of last year's doubles champion team, Bill Cormack, will be back with a new partner to replace Phil Harrington who is not at St. Joe this year.

Decker scores in overtime

By JIM FRANCIS

A strong St. Joseph's faculty squad fought the Monogram club on even terms for the entire regulation time only to lose 38-36 in a two-minute overtime.

The overtime proved to be too much for the older faculty squad and Bob Decker scored the only basket of the period to grab the victory for the Monogram club. It was Decker who won the game for the St. Joe lettermen last year too, as he dropped in a short jump shot with 58 seconds left to play to give the Monogram club a 44-42 win.

After trailing at the end of the first quarter 7-6, the faculty came to life in the second period, outscoring the Monogram club 12-3 to take an 18-10 lead at the half.

The Monogram men made a strong comeback in the third quarter and closed the gap to two points.

The final period was an even battle with the teams trading basket for basket, and regulation time ended in a tie as the Monogram club's Jim Madden scored with five seconds remaining.

Coach Jim Holstein led the faculty squad with 12 points while Mr. Pat Lynch had eight and Coach Ed Dwyer had seven.

Mr. Ralph Marini was the real crowd pleaser however, in spite of the fact that he didn't score and twice shot at the wrong basket.

Coach Dwyer brought the fans to their feet when he applied an air plane spin and pin on referee Ron Holstein in the second quarter. Coach was merely protesting a call.

High point men for the Monogram club were Jim Madden with 10 points followed closely by Al Hanley with seven points and Dave Beam with six points.

The winning club was coached by Puma cagers Jim Crowley and Mickey Clark who are to be praised for their brilliant strategy.

St. Joe chaplain Fr. Leonard Kostka and Mr. Richard Scharf guided the faculty squad.

By virtue of the win the Monogram club retained possession of the coveted keg trophy they won for the first time last year. Jim Madden, president of the club, accepted the trophy for the winners.

All proceeds from the game will go to the Monogram club treasury to pay for the picnics thrown every year by the club members for the local orphanages.

Coach Joe Iofredo shows strain of long, hard season.

Club News

The Ohio club, at its last meeting, announced plans to sponsor a Monte Carlo night in the Rec hall on March 25. Details regarding the exact time, the prizes to be given away, and so forth will be released in the very near future.

Members of the planning committee are: Jack Vogel, Jim Moyer, Jerry Seinel, Dan Will, Lena Wally, Nick Bonnano, Ron Johnson, Dan Jones, Bob Kaiser, John Babione and the club officers.

Club members were also given the good news that the first annual Ohio club dance will almost certainly be held on April 3 in Lima's plush Milano Club. The dance will be open to all members plus invited guests and alumni. It is hoped that the site of the dance will be alternated from year to year, instead of having it in the same city year after year.

Plans are being formulated to stage some sort of event to benefit the club members on the week-ends of the Junior-Senior prom and the Freshman-Sophomore hop. Members are being asked for ideas.

The deadline for dues was set as the first week in March. It was also reported that the total price of the club jackets was $790. Of this, more than $400 was paid by the club. The raffle netted $351 of this.

The annual banquet will be held this year as usual. Prices for tickets will depend on how much is netted from the Monte Carlo Games.

Membership goal of 75 percent of all students from Ohio was set for this semester. If it is reached, this would be an all-time high.

A list of prospective students for St. Joseph's was obtained and will be turned over to Fr. Baird.

The Geology club announced that, according to the constitution which gives a two week grace period after the first meeting of the semester, dues are to be turned in to any officer of the club by March 2. It is imperative that these dues be paid so that all members who helped with the successful raffle may take advantage of the spring field trip, which is to the Ducktown, Tenn. area over the Ascension Thursday weekend.

This is but one of the quartet of field trips that are conducted annually by the Geology club. These excursions take budding geologists to such places as Baraboo, Wis., Bedford, Ind., and the St. Francis Mountains of Missouri. Anyone who is seriously considering geology as a major field should not miss out on this indispensable field experience.

The news letter committee, headed by John Noble, announces that the letter has gone into the final stages of its completion. The response from former Geology club members has exceeded all expectations and is considered to be one of the finest projects initiated by the club in many years.

The Singing Seventeen under the direction of Fr. Lawrence Heiman sang for the closing of Forty Hours Devotion at St. Augustine Church in Minster, O. Preceding the services the Seventeen, together with the St. Augustine choir, presented a half hour concert of sacred choral music.

On March 17 the traveling Varsity Glee club will present a concert in Coldwater, O.

St. Joe's tourney wrestlers

The Puma varsity wrestling squad includes: Ken Myrocek, Jim Crook, George Foss, John Keane, Coach Ed Dwyer, Vic Roos, Mike Mettler, Ken O'Shea, and Jim Delaney.

Mudd won third in this class.

The final team ratings for the tournament were Ball State first, DePauw second, Valparaiso third, Indiana State fourth, and St. Joseph's fifth.

The St. Joseph's matmen had men in contention for places in all classes but the 167 lb. level, but were able to capture just two places.

The St. Joe team should do far better next year. The team will lose only one man, Mike Mettler at 137, and there are some bright prospects on the freshmen team. In addition, the experience that was gained during this, the first full season St. Joe has had a wrestling team, should contribute much to making next season a successful year for the matmen.

Ft. Lauderdale to present first annual spring jazz festival

Now that Newport has apparently seen its last Jazz Festival (The City Council of Newport, Rhode Island having voted not to issue a permit for a Festival this summer), jazz buffs cross campus are advised of the teaming of a new jazz location with an old familiar vacationland.

If you plan to number yourself among the 30 or 40 odd thousand college students seeking sun, fun, and glorious relaxation in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. this spring, you can expect to be on hand for the newest addition to this year's spring vacation itinerary, The First Annual Lauderdale Spring Jazz Festival.

The Festival is a major portion of a spectacular promotion intended to launch the first issue of Campus Life Magazine which makes its newsstand debut the last week in April.

The jazz spectacular, which might appropriately be referred to as "Where The Sounds Are," will be housed in Fort Lauderdale's War Memorial Auditorium for a period of six days beginning Friday evening March 24.

Jazz heavyweights Chris Connor, The Hi-Lo's, the big 14 man Gerry Mulligan Band, The Gerry Mulligan Sextet and Chris Columbus and his Gentlemen of Jazz will be on hand for the festivities.

An old favorite, familiar to Fort Lauderdale regulars, Wally Show Me What Ya' Got" Futch, will be among local personalities included in the Festival.

Local interest in the Festival may result in a shortage of tickets for out of town students, and authorities are anxious to avoid any situation similar to that in Newport this past summer when students journeying to the Festival were unable to obtain tickets upon arrival.

So that this may be avoided an advance ticket sale to out of town students only is being offered until March 6. The local ticket sale will begin at that time.

Students wishing to assure themselves admission to the Festival may order tickets in advance by writing to Campus Life's New York City office.

The following information must be included. The evening you wish to attend (Friday March 24, Saturday March 25, Sunday March 26, Monday March 27, Tuesday March 28, Wednesday March 29), the early or late show (7:45 p.m. 11:00 p.m.), and the number of tickets.

Be sure to include a second or third choice of evening and per-

Puma icemen win first, 14-6

Smarting under last week's defeat the fighting Puma Icemen pulled themselves together and downed their Chicago opponents 14-6 last Friday night.

The Pumas' opponents opened the hostilities, scoring the first goal in the early minutes of the game. St. Joe retaliated and scored four straight goals before their opponents scored again at the end of the period.

During the second period the action slowed down but the Pumas again outscored the opposition 3-2, increasing their lead to four goals.

In the third period the Pumas took complete control, scoring seven goals while holding their opponents to two.

High man was co-captain Tim "Boom Boom" Kennedy with four goals. Second was co-captain Steve Murphy who got the "hat trick." Other scorers were: Joe Heinbuch, Brian Decker, Jim Mas-on, and Gene Lattanzi.
